killed and 3,407 injured.

As regards material damage, only a few of the items have been difficult to assess. as, for instance, the shattering of many stained-glass windows of historical and sentimental value in churches at Hull and in Lincoin's Inn, London.

London was the heaviest sufferer, but hardly any nayal or military damage was done. A Zeppelin bomb dropped on September 9, 1915, set fire to a warehouse in Wood-street, E. C., and destroyed property worth 500,000 pounds.

A bomb weighing 500 pounds dropped from an aeroplane fell in Warrington-crescent, Maida Vale, destroying six large houses, rendering twenty others uninhabitable, and damaging more than 400 more.

The officers' quarters in Chelsea hospital were demolished by a bomb estimated to weigh 500 pounds, and Savoy mansions were seriously damaged. In one raid a bomb fell between two trains standing in Liverpool street station, wrecking both, and another bomb blew up a motor omnibus close to the station.

Public buildings hit include the Central telegraph office, which had its roof damaged. A bomb dropped within a few yards of the north side of St. Paul's cathedral on June 13, 1917. One aeroplane bomb fell in the grounds of Woolwich arsenal, blowing out the end of a carpenters' shop. On one occasion twenty-three incendiary bombs were dropped on the arsenal without serious results.

TO LLOYD GEORGE.

His Reward Regarded as Personal Triumph Unequaled in English History.

(By H. Wickham Steed.) (London Times-Pail. Ledger Cop. Cable.) Paris, Dec. 21.—The results of the British elections are hailed with sin-cere satisfaction by our French allies as the best possible solution and as a pledge that the British people are solid against a wishy-washy peace. Coupled with this satisfaction is the feeling of personal gratitude towards Premier Lloyd George himself, who in a critical moment of the war, when all the allied fortunes were in the balance, cast all sentimental considerations to the winds and obtained the unity of command.

In the opinion of the Temps, the triumph of Mr. Lloyd George and the cabinet is the happiest event since the armistice was signed. It continues: "In the face of opposition and so split up that it appeared that for a long time to come it would be condemned to a purely negative attitude, the government coalition now presents a compact mass for a positive program. The compact for the predominance of the unionist party is such that the liberal or the socialist members of the coalition will. cialist members of the coalition will not be tempted to seek other paths."

VITAL PICTURE OF PEACEFUL FRANCE WHICH SUPPLANTED NO MAN'S LAND

PERSONAL GRATITUDE Country of Fleur de Lis Awakens - Simple Rural Characteristics Return.

27,-(Correspondent of the Associnted Press.)-This land of recent battles is a queer land now. Over the shell-torn villages and blasted woods, the pitted fields and the ruin of all that once was, is a strange quiet. The winter sky is lacking in airplanes and great flocks of crows have taken their place.

A few villagers have crept back to see what remains of their homes and holdings, but they are few and probably the winter will have passed before reclamation and reconstruction are undertaken on a large scale.

Along the roads repaired and rebridged for the allies' advance into German territory, long camion trains They travel leisurely now, for the need of hurry is gone. They bring back the salvage of battlefields, all the things that go to make war abandoned or captured.

Truck load after truck load of rifles and shells, of water bottles and haversacks, cartridges, machine guns, bayonets and trench knives and machine pistols, mess kits, overcoats, caps and endless catalougue of paraphernalia are brought in. The battle zone is still full of it all, in heaps and racks, awaiting salvage.

Bring in Broken Planes.

Now and then come trains of airplane camions, burdened with dis-mantled flying machines of every type and every nation, engine and fusilage and runing gear on the truck and the great wings on its specially designed trailer. Some them are unharmed, but many show bullet holes through the frail fabric or the ruins of a crash. A fair proportion of them bear the Maltese cross that marks them Boche.

There are trains of captured enemy artillery, particularly of motor bat-teries, driven and manned by Frenchmen, and these are happy outfits Often the guns are decorated with evergreens and always the French oldiers laugh and wave a greeting. As they creep through the villages the populace flocks cut to view the cannon that for four years sent death and devastation to their land, and the children clamber on the carriages returning to rest areas or to their high as it always is at home.

Behind the Lines in France, Nov.
7.—(Correspondent of the Associted Press.)—This land of recent attles is a queer land now. Over the shell-torn villages and blasted always the French officers salute with a smile when they meet an American car, while the men wave and shout "la guerre est finis" or a similar greeting. Even the children cry "finis," "finis," to the passing car.

France No Longer Deserted. Strangest of all are the lights at night, in the hamlets and villages are shining friendly from the isolated farm house in regions further back. For so long France seemed a deserted land to the traveler by night. Hour after hour the Associated Press correspondent has traveled at night without a glimmer to be seen in the countryside, and now from every hill and vale the cherry windows shine and the villages are ablaze The papers devote columns to the illumination of Paris, but it is here in the remote part of France where war has been, that lights at night eem most wonderful, are but candle or a little lamp. Where once camions or staff cars loomed lightless in the roads to the immi-nent threat of collision, and often its accomplishment, the brilliant headlights stab the night.

There is no village now but where the travelling passenger can obtain food, not in variety perhaps, but enough and very hospitably. The de-precatory polite and necessary refusal to requests for refreshments hamlets or signal farms has given way to cheerful offering of what there is, for the farmers know now that the specter of a winter of short rations has disappeared. The rationing of certain foodstuffs is still in effect. #### BISSOLATI IS WITH . WILSON FOR ITALY

BRIEF REASONS ASSIGNED FOR RESIGNATION.

Strong Advocate of Wilson's Principle of League of Nations.

(London Times-Phil. Ledger Cop. Cable.) Rome, Dec. 31 .- The resignation of Signor Bisssolati is definite, but the minister remains in office until after President Wilson's visit to Rome. Signor Bissolati holds the portfolio of pensions and military assistance, but really entered the cabinet as the representative of the reformist socialists.

Commenting on the reason for the resignation, M. Ornale Del Popolo sums up the situation by saying:
"Bissolati e. Italiamente con Wilson," a free translation of which is, "Bissolati is with Wilson and for Italy."

The possible imminence of President Wilson's visit to Italy caused him to take this step, as he prefers not to remain a member of the gov-ernment unless the principle referred to is formally adopted as a part of the foreign minister's policy.

Messagero says it is in a position to deny the report that Signor Bissolati's successor will be Signor Bo-nomi, for, it says, Bonomi shares Bissolati's views and won't replace him. Messagero adds Signor Berenins also will resign, making necessary a full recomposition of the cabinet.
